MESSAGE OF THE PRESIDENT

OF THE

UNITED MEXICAN STATES

TO THE

2007 CONFERENCE OF

NORTH AMERICA'S SUPERCORRIDOR COALITION (NASCO)

It is with great pleasure that I transmit this message to the organizers and participants of the North America's SuperCorridor Coalition 2007 Conference, at which, without a doubt, there has been a valuable exchange of ideas on issues strategic to the development of North America such as: commerce, security, transportation, logistics and the environment.

I congratulate you on the results of this gathering, which certainly strengthen the spirit of cooperation between Mexico, the United States and Canada, and assure and stimulate the economic development of our nations.

The transport and logistics sector is fundamental to trade and commerce in our region. For that reason, I am most pleased to announce that Mexico, specifically, the state of Guanajuato, cradle of our national independence, shall host the next annual gathering of this organization. It shall be an honor for us to serve as your hosts from June 4-to-6, 2008. I invite you to gain an up-close view into the business advantages offered by Mexico, the state of Guanajuato, and its Inland Port.

With the help of Mexico's privileged geographic location, we are transforming our nation into a multi-directional link in the global supply chain in a world of tremendous competition. The NASCO Corridor is a great boost to the competitiveness of our entire region before the rest of the world.

I am certain that the paths forged from the consensus arising out of the multiplicity of viewpoints expressed here will be transformed into express lanes upon which North America will move at high speed toward sustained and sustainable economic development for all. Together, we shall make of the NASCO Corridor the most competitive one in the world.

We await you in Guanajuato, Mexico to inaugurate with you the NASCO Conference of 2008.
